Veterans' Land Act Official Explains Rehabilitation Work

On the principle that all veterans should have an equal opportunity to avail themselves of choice localities for "small holdings" under the Veterans' Land Act, the Marsh estate property recently bought by the government for rehabilitation purposes will not be opened up this year, C. M. Nixon, district superintendent of the Veterans' Act administration, told Newmarket town council Monday night.

"The government has purchased several pieces of land across Canada and they are being reserved for veterans when the war is over," he said. "There is nothing to prevent a veteran already home from applying for grants on a small holding he has chosen for himself, but in cases as in Newmarket where property sufficient to house several families has been purchased by the government, action will be stayed until all veterans are home. Then, if the demand exceeds the supply, the property will be distributed by lottery."

The Marsh estate property covers approximately 45 acres and will be subdivided so that each lot will be an acre in size. The lots are laid out in squares. "The small holding is designed to give the veteran a piece of land in the country of sufficient size to enable him to garden and grow vegetables to supplement his table, enough land to give him a sense of permanency but not so much land as to require him to spend all his time on it," Mr. Nixon said. "A veteran on a small holding is able to continue his trade or profession and at the same time do a bit of farming."

"The government intends to build houses on the property in Newmarket but not this year," he said. "We have contracted to build 1,128 houses in Ontario this year. We have the lumber, the fixtures and so on. We can only build economically if we build in large quantities. We can't change our plans for this year but there is a possibility that we may build here next year."

The government loans on small holdings go as high as $4,800 on land and house, Mr. Nixon stated. In addition there is a grant of up to $1,200 for implements, stock, etc. The $1,200 grant is not repayable to the government. The veteran is required to pay cash of ten percent of the cost of land and house as a condition of getting it. The government then assumes a third of the cost of land and house, and the veteran must repay the other two-thirds within 25 years. The veteran does not receive a title deed to the small holding on which he has established himself until ten years of possession.

Mr. Nixon gave full credit for having brought the Newmarket property to the attention of the government to Councillor Jos. Vale. "We bought the land because it was ideal for our purposes but had not Mr. Vale insisted on its looking it over, we would have missed a perfect situation for veterans."

TWO DIE IN ACCIDENT

Two soldiers from Newmarket military camp died when their car was hit by a train at Timothy St. last Thursday. The force of the impact crushed the frame of the car. The car was carried from Timothy St. to near the Queen St. bridge where the photograph was taken. Staff photo.

Train, Car Collide, Two Soldiers Killed

The coroner's jury enquiring into the deaths of two soldiers from Newmarket military camp returned a verdict of accidental death at an inquest, presided over by Coroner Dr. L. W. Dales, last night. The two soldiers, Pte. John O'Brien, 43, Toronto, and Pte. Bentley Dubeau, 19, Quebec, were killed Thursday night when their car collided with a C.N.R. train at the Timothy St. crossing.

Testimony of witnesses showed that the car had come to a stop at the crossing but had started up again to be hit by the train as it crossed the tracks. The car was carried a distance of approximately 1,300 feet, from Timothy St. to near the Queen St. bridge. The car was completely destroyed. The engine suffered only minor damage and was able to continue after a short delay.

Madeline Rose, Prospect St., testified that she was at the crossing when the accident occurred. She said the car came down the hill, stopped at the crossing, and then moved onto the tracks. "I heard the engine whistle and saw the wig-wag going. The signal had been going before the car reached the tracks," she said. Joan Ennes, Sutton West, who was with her, corroborated the testimony.

Pte. E. Dupont, who said he had been standing ahead of the girls while waiting for the train to pass, testified that the wigwag was going and the car had stopped. "Two boys on bicycles came out from the Office. Specially lane beside the track on the south side of Timothy St. and crossed the tracks ahead of the train," he said. "The car started to follow them and was hit by the train."

There were two engines and 11 cars to the train. H. E. Fisman, Barrie, engineer of the leading engine, said that the train was travelling at approximately 4 miles per hour at the time of the impact. "I had blown the signal for the station, one long blast, and had blown two crossing signals, one for Water St. and one for Timothy St. When I first saw the car, it was moving and it was 30 yards or so from the train. I put on the emergency brakes when I saw the car wasn't going to stop," he testified.

According to testimony of other witnesses, the accident occurred at approximately 7:20 p.m. Capt. C. Hunter Wilson, medical officer at the camp, said he arrived on the scene of the accident at approximately 7:35 and that the men were dead when he arrived.

Foreman of the jury, Alex. Eves handed a verdict of accidental death after a short jury deliberation to Coroner Dr. Dales. There were no recommendations by the jury.

34 MILLS IS TAX RATE AS BUDGET ACCEPTED

Newmarket town council struck a mill-rate of 34 at council meeting Monday night. The new rate represents a drop of five mills from last year. The budget was accepted over the objection of Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales, who moved an amendment, which received no support from other councillors, to the motion of acceptance, urging that the mill rate be made 35 so as to "provide a buffer in the case of unforeseen circumstances."

"We have made our estimations with sufficient elasticity to allow for extra expenditures," stated Councillor J. L. Spilletto, chairman of the finance committee.

"You haven't provided for rehabilitation, the market, and other expenditures that might come up," replied Mayor Dales. "I think you have pared the budget too close."

Of the 34-mill rate, 22 mills with one mill equalling $2,354, is for general rates, 12 mills with one mill equalling $2,408, is for school rates.

The budget sets estimated expenditures at $118,340 and revenue at $38,372.52. Amount to be raised by taxes is $79,967.48, of which, $27,666.33, on school rates, with a balance of $52,301.15 to be raised by general rates. School estimates show a decided drop over the previous year. Last year, $24,000 was spent for public schools as against $17,000 allotted for this year. Last year $2,315.36 was spent by separate schools as against $1,732 estimated for this year. The high school made no claim at all for town money as against the $13,500 spent last year.

Administration, general salaries, allowances, etc., are budgeted at $13,000 as against the $9,517.53 spent last year. The difference is made up by the town clerk's and night patrolman's salary.

The board of health spent $2,890.23 last year and this year receives $4,500. The difference is accounted for in the salary of the public health nurse, and car allowance as needed.

The grant to York County hospital is cut from $3,000 to $1,000. There was an expenditure of $521.67 on the arena as well as the $1,000 paid to the Arena Company this year. The purchase price of the arena with the inclusion of use this year was $17,000. One thousand dollars was paid off this year and debentures issued for the remaining $16,000. Debenture debt on the arena this year as estimated in the budget is $2,480.

Other objectives are: Aurora, $220,000 against $210,000 in seventh loan; Sutton, $90,000 against $70,000; East Gwillimbury, $175,000 against $170,000; North Gwillimbury, $80,000 against $70,000; Whitechurch, $165,000; King, $270,000 against $265,000.

Army Wins Final 10-5 In Good Friday Classic

By BERNIE GANTNER

Newmarket army came from behind the eight-ball in the final round of the inter-services league play-offs with Toronto Navy Bulldogs, smearing the sailors 10-5 in the rubber game at Maple Leaf Gardens on Good Friday night. After trailing two games to one in the best-of-five series, the blue shirts came back strongly to trounce the tars in the fourth and fifth encounters.

Friday night's jamboree at the Gardens was strictly Newmarket. The No. 23 pucksters had the situation well in hand, completely dominating proceedings. They were definitely in the driver's seat, combining speed and more speed, close checking plus clever passing on the offensive to smother their opponents. The popular query now making the rounds is "What happened to the navy?" Nothing happened to the navy. The bulldogs were confronted by the same set of players they had been dictating to all season, but with the chips down, the shoe was on the other foot. The Newmarket soldiers did all the dictating on this occasion and made no bones about it.

The contest was a bumping bee from the word go, with the first stanza having somewhat of an edge over its successors in the matter of knocks, thrills and speed. The pace was terrific, spills coming right and left. On-rushing forwards were cut down like five pins. There wasn't a single bit of action that didn't have two or three players slowly picking themselves up from the icy surface of the spacious rink. Penalties were rather few considering the number of illegitimate thumps dished out. The referees were conservative in handing out the penalties, but still six rule-breakers visited the sinner's pen.

Don't think for a moment the middle and last sessions were mild in comparison. Such a thought would be folly. They were just as fast, but as was to be expected, bodily contact was eased off slightly. Navy jumped into the lead early in the first period on Love's counter on a pass from Dillon. This was nullified when McComb batted in Taylor's rebound on a gangling attack. That was the extent of the scoring activities for the first period. Wheeler sent the soldiers ahead right after the first intermission but Grivel put the teams on even terms again on a lone effort.

It was 3-3 on an exchange of goals by Jamieson and Davey. Just before the period terminated, Newmarket forged to the front. Taylor and Callanan sank "quickness" to give the soldiers a commanding lead. And sure enough the margin seemed secure as the last 20 minutes opened. The Newmarketers played very cautiously, checking like fiends and not allowing the sailors to get a single play started.

An innocent penalty was what started No. 23 on a scoring rush, but not before the bulldogs evened up the count once more. Hinchcliffe went off for tripping and while he was in the cooler, navy fired two salvos by Slatery and King in the short space of a minute to tie it up. The equalizer appeared rather taint-

KILLED IN ACTION

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. William Blencowe of the death in action in Europe of their youngest son, Lt.-Cpl. Robert William Blencowe.

One of four brothers, all of whom had served overseas, Pte. Blencowe enlisted early in the war and went to England in 1941. He went into action in France on D-day and had been in the fighting until the time of his death.

A memorial service in honor of Lt.-Cpl. Blencowe will be held at the Christian-Congregational church Sunday morning.

ed but the argument presented to the referees was of no avail, the tally being allowed.

The last marker riled the soldiers to such an extent they wasted very little time in going into the lead for the third and last time. Chuck Shannon, the outstanding player of the game, pranced the full length of the ice and with the assistance of Taylor and Callanan, notched what proved to be the winning goal. Then came the deluge!

Catching the navy flat-footed in the Newmarket end, McComb took a rink-wide pass from Jamieson to drill one past Willson. Then in succession, Wheeler, McComb again, and Life planted the disc behind a bewildered navy net-minder to finish off an evening of Newmarket goal-hunting.

Rating three stars was bespectacled Chuck Shannon who was a second, if not third, goalie for the winners. He was a veritable stumbling block, stopping so many shots the official scorers were crediting him with shots on goal towards the end of the second period. Shannon also figured in three goals, getting the clincher and two assists.

Next in line for classy performances were Joint McComb, Billy Taylor, Dutch Wheeler and Johnny Callanan.

The navy didn't measure up to their previous displays, playing a mediocre brand of hockey. This can be attributed to the performance of the Newmarket squad, who came up with their best game of the season.

With the navy disposed of, it was generally thought hockey would be a thing of the past, but according to the latest camp information, a series with Camp Borden Armored Corps will commence next week to decide military honors for Ontario. Games are expected to take place at Maple Leaf Gardens.

The Newmarket Citizens Junior Boys Band concert will be April 13, not April 15, at the Newmarket town hall. The proceeds of the concert will be used to buy instruments for the band. Guest soloists are Misses Jean Davis, Alexandra Belugin and Gwen Lambert.

Capacity Crowd Attends Holstein Club Banquet

A capacity crowd of over 200 was on hand for the annual banquet of the York County Holstein club held March 29 at Pickering College. President Ray Clarkson, Weston, was master of ceremonies.

A number of presentations were made. Geo. S. Henry, Todmorden, presented a silver tray to Mrs. Edythe L. Brown bearing the following inscription: "Presented by the York County Holstein Club in recognition of the world record for milk and fat made by Doncrest Peg Top Burke". Also acting on behalf of the club, J. M. Fraser, Streetsville, third vice-president of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada, presented a pair of True Type Models of the Holstein cow and bull to Porter Bros., Richmond Hill, the breeders of "Peg".

The club also honored the York Junior judging team that won the dominion championship for dairy calf club members. Pen and pencil sets were given by Fieldman F. Roy Ormiston, Brooklyn, to Archie Fletcher and Keith Wardlaw, the team members, and a brief case to their coach, Assistant Agricultural Representative James Moore.

Certificates of superior production were presented by George G. Jackson, Downsview, to John W. Greenwood, Woodbridge, and Eaton Hall Farm, King. The former was in recognition of the outstanding production record of 21,956 lbs. milk containing 866 lbs. butterfat completed by Geraldine Pabst Alcartra. This record is the second largest for butterfat ever completed in Canada in the mature class of 305 day division on twice-a-day milking. Continued on test for the full year, she made 928 lbs. fat from 32,626 lbs. milk. The Eaton Hall cow is Glen Valley Jewel Beauty, whose production of 866 lbs. butterfat from 25,607 lbs. milk in 365 days as a junior four-year-old on three-times-a-day milking, stands third for milk and sixth for fat for all time in Canada.

Mr. Jackson, in a personal gesture, further presented copies of Cowphilosophy to Mrs. Edythe L. Brown, J. W. Greenwood, Eaton Hall Farm, and Doncrest, King. All had completed superior production records in their herds during the past year.

Jackson with a certificate of long-time production in recognition of the lifetime record of 106,040 lbs. milk containing 4,192 lbs. fat made by his cow, Lonelm Rag Apple Cleopatra.

The guest speaker was Capt. N. A. Healey, padre at Newmarket camp. He was introduced by Alderman John Innes, Toronto, chairman of the Toronto Farm Command committee. Capt. Healey spoke of the intolerable conditions under which our fighting men are living at the front and exhorted his hearers to give them the fullest co-operation and understanding in re-adjusting themselves to normal civilian life when they return home.

Door prize winners were: Mrs. Chas. Haines, Mrs. R. K. Campbell, Vic Marchant and Samuel Gough.

IS LOWERED MILL RATE SOUND FINANCING?

The town of Newmarket is prosperous, more so than it has been in many years. Coincidental with this prosperity, the 1945 budget has been brought down with a reduction of five mills from the 1944 rate of 39 mills. Is this sound financing?

The objection was heard in council that the budget was "pared too close," that there was no cushion for emergency expense. This was denied by the sponsors of the budget who claimed that their estimations of expenses were most liberal and that their estimations of revenue most conservative.

For example, the reserve for purchase at tax sales of $2,000 is quite high. Electric power revenue is understated. In such items, there is sufficient difference between the need and what is spent, between the estimated revenue and the actual revenue, to create a surplus for emergencies.

The fault of the budget is not a lack of flexibility, but that it violates a fundamental of municipal financing. At a time when the town is prosperous, the council should be conserving against depression. The time to lower mill rates is not during the prosperous year but in the lean year.

In a depression year, expenses increase. Relief becomes a major item. To meet this expense, the tax levy must be increased at a time when a reduction would be of greater value. Funds saved against that possibility would enable reduction or at least prevent an increase in levy during a slump.

A more immediate use would be the application of the surplus from a high mill rate to the renovating that Newmarket requires. Main St. must be widened, roads and sidewalks repaired. These are only two of the many expenditures that Newmarket must make sooner or later. A continuing high mill rate at a time when it can be afforded would provide the funds for this work.

WHAT YOUTH WANTS

Apparently on the assumption that those who attend schools in Canada should have some suggestion as to their management, the Canadian Youth Commission canvassed school-age youth in a series of opinion polls and embodied the findings in a report, a rough draft of which has been recently published.

The report was made by a committee of education of the commission, chaired by the deputy minister of education for Alberta, Dr. G. Fred McNally, and showed a consistent agreement of the following:

School leaving age should be raised to 18 years (17 in Quebec); the average annual minimum salary of teachers should be raised from $782 to $1,200; vocational guidance should be made part of the school curriculum; public assistance should be given to students who need it for the continuation of their education; federal assistance should be given to the provinces to equalize the provision of education for Canadian children.

The Canadian Youth Commission also states that its polls show that youth wants freedom to follow interests and aptitudes and to omit courses of no direct utility or appeal; better courses in business training and home economics; and in rural areas, more instruction on soils, animal care and breeding, practical field work and accounting.

The findings of the commission poll show two trends worth noting. The first is the emphasis placed by the students on the need for vocational guidance and option of subjects, that is, a wider range of practical instruction as well as the academic instruction. The students' wishes on this point are parallel with the proposed "composite school" where vocational, and agricultural instruction ranks with academic instruction.

The second trend is that towards greater reliance on the government to provide services formerly provided through other agencies or not provided at all. The insistence on aid for needy students, for provision of medical and dental care, goes hand in hand with the ever increasing assumption of responsibilities displayed by governments.

COMMUNITY ASSOCIATION

As summer nears, it becomes more evident how much a community association would mean to Newmarket. An association which would sponsor a junior baseball league, a horseshoe tournament, hobby and craft instruction, and many other kindred projects, could bring a larger measure of neighborly living, of healthy and happy living to Newmarket.

In Newmarket there are any number of groups which have come together about a common interest or to promote a particular purpose. There is not, however, any one group which has for its objective the promotion of all aspects of community life and which is truly representative of all ages and all walks of life. Why couldn't the various organizations unite in the promotion of this one purpose?

Such a representative association, embracing every variety of community interest, would be able to act with far more force for the improvement of the town. The pooling of resources would enable the achievement of what is beyond the resources of the individual groups. The advantages far outweigh those accruing to individual action, and the whole town would benefit.

VOTE AT 18

A correspondent in a daily newspaper cites a recent inter-faculty brawl at Queen's University as one good reason why 18-year-olds shouldn't be allowed to vote. If the students at the university, most of them in the 18-20 age group, find it so easy to indulge in mob orgies, are there grounds to believe that they could bring a measured judgment to the polls, he asks. And thereby throws icy water on a project dear to certain councillors in the country's capital who have been arguing with some heat that if a boy is considered mature enough to fight for his country at 18, then he is mature enough to cast a ballot.

In our opinion, age has little to do with the qualifications to cast a vote. It would be nearer the point if an examination on citizenship were substituted for the 21st birthday. After all, there are some minors who have more political savvy than their parents. There are some adults who cast a vote with even less thought than the students at Queen's. And there is certainly an uncomplimentary phrase for those who have the right to vote but never exercise it because it is too much exertion.

The trouble is that our vote comes to us too easily. We haven't had to fight for it. We can't count the cost of it through years because we are not educated to appreciate it. More emphasis in education towards the responsibilities of being a citizen and less emphasis on reaching the age of 21 would have an alleviating effect on this country's politics.

What Others Think

OUR SYSTEM IS BETTER

(Free Press Herald, Midland)

It is rather refreshing to pick up an American newspaper and read in it a confession that Canada has a better system of government than the United States.

Most folks who have done any thinking have known that for a long time. The parliamentary system in which all departments of government are closely related, and under which a government can go to the people at any time an issue develops, is much superior to the straight jacket American way of doing things. Across the line there is no co-ordination between President and Congress. The administrative is completely divorced from the legislative branch of government, and quarrels are constantly going on.

Richard L. Strout, writing in the Christian Science Monitor, compares the Canadian and American systems to the advantage of Canada, and from his article we quote:

"During an election in United States it is possible for a while to pin down responsibility. The voters see the political game as between two teams and can decide which is their side. The contest, perhaps, is oversimplified, but at least it has the inestimable advantage of making plain 'who has the ball' to even the dullest.

"Unfortunately, after a presidential election it is often impossible to tell who has the ball. Often an election doesn't prove very much. Take the 1944 American election. Mr. Roosevelt was returned and the newspapers talked about a 'mandate.' But in the brief intervening period the House had roundly defeated the Administration in the matter of continuing the so-called Dies committee; and the Administration has taken a licking in the Senate on giving Henry Wallace the loan powers previously exercised by Jesse Jones. There is nothing unusual in these rebuffs. Most writers on American government point to the chronic friction between the executive and the legislative branches as an inevitable sequel to the constitutional separation of powers.

"Now contrast the Canadian—or parliamentary—system. There is a greater sense of political drama at several points. This is a good thing because drama keeps up public interest and helps activate a democracy. One element of drama is suspense—uncertainty. In the United States the election is decided by calendar, not issue. You can predict when the election will come a hundred years ahead. But in Canada there has been uncertainty right to the end as to whether Mr. King would call an election.

"Within limitations it might come any minute. It might also come on any issue, or any vote. Parliament and the electorate have to keep on their toes.

"Then there is another basic difference. It's impossible to tell, now, who will win out in the tangled, exciting and important Canadian election. But this is pretty certain. Whoever wins will really win; win, I mean, in the sense that responsibility from there on will be pinned squarely on the victor.

"The voters will know who has the power in Ottawa—who has the ball. That is about the hardest thing to ascertain there is, a lot of times in Washington. A President may want one thing and Congress something else, and then there is a deadlock. Or some petty baron of a committee chairman, in one of the 80 or so Congressional committees, may object to a bill which you, I, the public, the President—about everybody—wants. One of the hardest things in the world is to budge the bill out. (One of the biggest problems is just to determine who or what is really blocking any given bill.)

"In Canada, if Mackenzie King, or some other Prime Minister, is thwarted by Parliament, he can call an immediate election. He can have a showdown then and there. If he is defeated, on a 'Dies committee' or 'Wallace nomination' vote, he can go to the public immediately. That engenders a sense of responsibility all around. The minority has its 'shadow' Cabinet all ready to take over. An Opposition can't just oppose; it has to think, too.

25 YEARS AGO

From The Era and Express files, April 2, 1920.

B. W. Hunter, president of the board of trade, was in the chair at an important and largely attended meeting in the board rooms on Wednesday evening. Among other items of business was a discussion on the Wednesday half-holiday from May 1 to Oct. 1.

About 40 ladies gathered at the home of the Misses Forsythe on Saturday evening to say farewell to Mrs. Hiltz before she leaves for her new home in Oshawa. They presented her with an electric heater.

Maple syrup costs more and—well, the trees are higher this year than last, you know.

The display of basketry and fancy work done by the patients of Newmarket military hospital, on display in one of the store windows down town last week, attracted much attention.

Some idea of the banking business done in our public schools may be obtained by glancing over the figures for March. During the month the pupils deposited $232.43, an average of $46.50 a week. Between 150 and 180 pupils make deposits each Monday morning.

Reports from the farming districts of North York received yesterday show that plowing is in progress at many points, although the rain of Sunday and Monday has made low-lying fields unfit to work for a few days.

Binns' hardware has made a big improvement in the store by changing the location of the offices.

50 YEARS AGO

From The Era and Express files, April 5, 1895.

The business people have been asked to subscribe the last few days towards procuring an outfit for a baseball team. Between football, baseball, bicycling and lacrosse it looks as if the town will be overrun with sport the coming season.

Penn Watson has put up quite a respectable addition to his barn.

Steps are being taken to re-organize the town band.

The Institute reading room has become quite a rendezvous for high school pupils between four and five o'clock.

The Bicycle Club room has been moved to the top of the Reform block.

Chief Anderson expects to commence his sanitary inspection tour next week.

What a shame it is that just when the town people would like to visit their country cousins and partake of the "maple sweet," the roads are in such a shocking condition that the journey spoils all the pleasure.

Messrs. Davison and Co. will open a grocery store with an entirely new stock on Saturday morning, next to the North American hotel.

When War Is Over

THE TANK, CAMP BORDEN

Under the head Crime: A Post War Menace, we read elsewhere in this issue with a treat of thought that has become more noticeable late and has caused parents to view with growing apprehension the months and years during which our soldiers have experienced the power to destroy both property and human life. Will it be possible for them to readjust themselves to an orderly society or has front line duty caused them to view the laws of a peaceful country with contempt?

Commissioner W. H. Stringer of the Ontario provincial police assures us that the authorities regard the returned man as a loyal citizen, a man to be trusted and honored, and we have found no one who will contradict this expression of faith in the Canadian soldier.

But what does the returned man think of this? If those of us at home fear for him lest he lose his sense of decency and hint he may flaunt authority upon his return to civil life, has he not the right to request we put our own house in order before voicing the opinion that the party next door clean up his yard?

We spoke to a number of returned men and their one fear was that today they were carrying the banner of democracy and tomorrow they would be forgotten. Not forgotten in the sense that the government would neglect them or that former employers would display a cold shoulder, but forgotten by the general public once the rapid tempo of life under war conditions ceases and we find it will be referred to as "that time we couldn't get enough gas."

Let there be no mistake. These men do not consider themselves heroes and are embarrassed when referred to as such. All they request is that a more moderate attitude be adopted towards them. They do not fully appreciate the whole-hog adulation poured upon them for they know the pendulum of public emotion is always in

THE COMMON ROUND

By ISABEL INGLIS COLVILLE

AFTER EASTER THOUGHTS

Never, I think, in the course of history since the first Passion week has the meaning of Good Friday and Easter Day come home to us with such an impact.

On every war front men are dying for us; dying for a cause—the cause of humanity; for our sins of omission and commission; of neglect on the part of the nations and each one of us to rise above self and see the world and its needs instead of like the Pharisees thanking God we were not as other men are.

If we are ever to, even in some small measure, repay the sacrifices, divine and human, which have been made for us, we must feel the awakening power of Easter.

It seems to me that just as the world at this time is filled with new life—the breaking forth of life in leaf and bud—just as the birds respond to the new life surging around them and fill the air with joyous melody, so must there be a resurgence of life in the heart of each one of us.

LABOR-MANAGEMENT CO-OPERATION

By ORVILLE GANTON

S. J. Walton, field representative of the industrial production co-operation board, visited Newmarket last week. Mr. Walton spoke to members of the Office Specialty union about the benefits to be derived from this new government department which is endorsed by both Labor Congresses and also the Manufacturers' Association. The National Film Board sent along a film with projector and operator which helped to round out a very pleasant evening for the unionists and their wives.

Mr. Walton explained the functions of these committees which are an entirely new approach to relations between labor and management. They provide a formal channel of communication on problems of production. While collective bargaining is the proper and accepted procedure for regulating wages, hours and working conditions, it is not necessarily the last word in labor-management co-operation.

The matters referred to joint committees relate to improvements in methods of production, the maximum utilization of existing machinery, the elimination of defective work, the upkeep of fixtures and tools, the changing of obsolete practices, the conservation of materials and tools, the efficient use of safety devices, reduction in absenteeism, and, generally, the maintenance of good morale in the plant.

Mr. Walton stressed the point that L.M.P. is not a scheme for the promotion of company unions or a labor plan for taking over the job of management. It is not a device to be used by either management or labor for their own ends. It is a joint venture for the promotion of their common purposes.

The film, Partners in Production, showed this plan functioning perfectly in British war industries. Such a plan would no doubt help Canadian industry gain access to world markets by raising its industry to the highest point of efficiency both in production and quality.

It is so pitifully easy amid the daily round of duties and cares and anxieties to forget that a cross once stood on Calvary, lifted up for all the world to see, and that it meant and still means that our hearts must be lifted out of the pettiness that encumber them to breathe in the fuller, richer life of the Christ of the resurrection.

So many lives have faced Gethsemane in these days, have prayed in agony for deliverance and felt the awful blackness of despair when there was no deliverance. Christ prayed so, too, but when he knew that deliverance was not His Father's will, he went to Calvary, and the resurrection.

That is the one thought this Easter that makes sense amid the mad chaos of death and destruction, of cruelty and wrong, that out of this, as out of the tomb, a glorious resurrection of right, of brotherhood and of Christ-likeness, will arise and penetrate to every corner of the world.

ONIONS

By GOLDEN GLOW

Well what do you know? After all these years with onions so scarce they were worth their weight in gold pretty nearly, here there is a surplus on the market and we are being urged to use up all we can so that there will be no waste of the precious vegetable. Mrs. Aitken, in her delightfully humorous way, said "We are making a strong appeal . . ." and her two fellow-broadcasters started to laugh. Yes, maybe onions are strong, but oh what a difference they do make in so many things, in a salad, or a hamburger sandwich—and dozens of other ways. I do not need to talk like a cook book.

I wonder where that slang expression originated. "He knows his onions." It is most expressive at any rate. For any one who likes the flavor of onions, just fancy how the men in uniform overseas must have missed them during the time they were practically unobtainable. From April 1 there is to be a regular drive, shall I say, to use up the surplus stock of onions, and C.F.R.B. is offering a little leaflet telling us how to use them in many different ways. Mrs. Aitken says to destroy the odor of onions on one's hands just rub with a raw potato, and to peel onions strike a match, blow it out, then clinch the white end of the match between your teeth and you will not weep during the process.

I have heard that the French peasants make their noonday lunch on bread and butter, cheese and onions—now maybe I'd better say they used to, dear only knows what the French peasants or any other Europeans are doing now in these awful days of war.

Green onions are again on the menu, and what is more appetizing than cheese, crackers and green onions? That is to anybody who likes onions—and pickled onions on the menu of a picnic lunch—"Mmm, good."

TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr. Editor: I have a grouch, a little too long, no doubt, for the Grouch Corner, so I'll write a letter. It is this. Last Sunday we took a walk through Lions Park and there in the stream is lying one of the cement benches with the slats forming the back and seat broken. Now I feel sure those benches are too heavy for children (unless a gang undertook it) to carry to the stream and throw it in. Is it the "Teen-agers" and "Bobby Soekers"? Last year it was the same, down at the little park by Fairy Lake—benches thrown in, shrubs and trees mutilated, and the water-works lawn ripped to pieces. Why do hoodlums have to destroy all the time? Can they not enjoy things and leave them for others also to enjoy? Last Halloween is still fresh in our memories—but this is not Halloween, and it seems like wanton destruction. Is there no remedy? We all resent such proceedings, but are powerless to do anything, for of course it is done under cover of darkness. However I can air my grievance, which also covers that of all decent citizens.

Yours truly,

A Lover of Order and Beauty.

Family Allowances

On March 22, the federal government began the mailing of family allowance forms to parents throughout Canada. The parents must complete the form and return it to the Director of Family Allowances, Toronto, before they may receive the allowance. The completed form will be considered as an application for the allowance and the allowance will be forwarded on receipt of the completed form.

In the view of the federal government, there is a definite need for family allowances, defined by the government as regular cash grants made to families towards maintenance, training and upbringing of children. One reason for the allowances is to bring a married man with children towards parity of income of a single man in the same wage bracket. For example, a single man, making five dollars daily has a larger income than a married man with two children making the same amount since a large part of the married man's income is accounted for by his three dependants. Another reason for the allowances is the increase in buying power they will provide to the subsequent advantage to our national economy.

Each child under 16 years of age and maintained in the family is eligible to the allowance. Children under six years of age receive five dollars a month; from six to nine years, six dollars a month; from ten to 12 years, seven dollars a month; from 13 to 15 years, eight dollars a month.

Allowances are reduced after the fourth child because clothing, school books and other equipment can be used again by the younger children in the family. There will be a reduction of one dollar for the fifth child; two dollars each for the sixth and seventh child; three dollars for each additional child. In other words, the four oldest children under 16 years receive the regular allowance and additional younger children have their allowance reduced.

Those claiming income tax exemption for their children cannot continue to claim that exemption and claim the allowance as well. They can claim the allowance but the value of their tax exemption will be reduced by the amount of the family allowance they will receive. In other words, those whose present tax exemption is already greater than the amount of their family allowance will be in the same position as before. Those whose tax exemption is less than their family allowance will benefit.

Income tax payers have the option of applying for the family allowance or of waiving their claim for family allowances and claiming full exemption for children on their income tax. It is advised that the former course be taken as the applicant can't possibly be worse off and in most cases, he will be better off. In addition, incomes may change through the year and it is better to be on the safe side. The allowances do not count as income for income tax purposes.

Forms for the family allowance will be delivered through the post office to every household in which there are children under 16 years of age. Additional forms may be obtained from the post office.

Birth certificates are not required at registration as the forms will be checked against the provincial records. Only English and French will be accepted in making out the forms. Those speaking any other language are asked to have someone make out the forms for them. Forms will be sent to Indian agents for the registration of Indians. Those who cannot write are asked to have the form made out for them and to make their mark in lieu of a signature in the presence of two witnesses.

The birth of children after the initial registration should be registered with the provincial vital statistics authorities in the usual way and registration should also be made on a form obtained from the post office. The form should be completed and mailed to the provincial Director of Family Allowances, Toronto. Deaths must be reported to the Provincial Director of Family Allowances at once.

The first cheque for family allowances, payable on the dominion treasury, will be made available during the month of July. In most cases, the cheque will be made out to the mother. The cheque will be made out for the entire family rather than one cheque for each child. If the cheque is not received, the provincial Director of Family Allowances should be notified immediately.

The allowance will not be paid to a child above the age of six years who is physically fit and fails to attend school or to receive the equivalent training according to the standards laid down in each province. Nor will the allowance be paid to any person whose children are not mainly dependent on him for support. Adopted children are eligible for the allowance just as any other child. The allowance is paid to all families whether or not the family is already receiving insurance, pensions, rehabilitation grants and so on.

To receive the allowance, a child must have lived in Canada three years except for the children of servicemen or women and the children of Canadians temporarily out of Canada. The children of any Canadian man or woman serving overseas get an allowance immediately upon their taking up residence in Canada.

Weston Vocational School

By A. N. BELUGIN

As was reported in a recent issue of The Era and Express, four members of the Newmarket high school board and the deputy-revee of Newmarket visited the vocational wing of the Weston high school last week. The writer feels that the Newmarket public, too, should know something of what we saw there.

On our arrival there, our somewhat large delegation (the York county education committee was there as well as the Newmarket visitors) was greeted by the Weston school board, the principal, and the business administrator. We were divided into small groups and the tour began. Our group was conducted by the business administrator, Mr. Marchant, and the vice-chairman of the board, A. C. Mills, brother of A. M. Mills, Newmarket.

We must bear in mind that Weston's is a large school, over 1,000 students and consequently, Newmarket would not need to have accommodations to the same extent. Weston school has a large, separate room for every shop. The shops would be all housed in one room, 50 feet by 38 feet, in the proposed vocational wing for Newmarket high school.

We saw the automotive room, or rather two rooms, where boys eagerly toiled on an old Chevrolet, grinding the valves of all things. There were also various parts of cars mounted about the room for detailed studies.

From there we went to the woodworking room where a band saw and 20 circular saws were in operation. We saw tables and desks made by the pupils of an excellence that would please any cabinet maker. Incidentally, they teach accident prevention there. Mr. Marchant told us that there had never been an accident in the woodworking room since it was started, and it has been operating continuously since 1921. Students are taught how to approach and treat a machine before they are allowed to operate it.

From the woodworking room we went to the linumithy where pipe-joints and tin snail measures, made by the pupils, would have gladdened the eye of any linumith in the business. The writer confessed that he had a looking funnel he was fondly strong temptation for a neat handling. He overcame temptation however.

After the tinmithy, we visited the electrical shop where hundreds of defence workers learned the things they needed to know before taking jobs in war industries. We were told that for three years, the vocational departments were open 24 hours a day.

The spacious drafting room was equipped with 12 tables.

In the home economics class, 53 girls were studying the art of home making. The girls were housed in three large rooms where everything from making beds and setting a table to sewing and cooking are taught.

At every step it was evident that our conductors were proud of their vocational department and the good it was doing to their students and the community. The tour was ended by a visit to the cafeteria where our hosts offered us tea and coffee and all that goes with it. As we were leaving, it occurred to us that Weston school has no auditorium. When they put on a play, they do so in their gymnasium, in three shifts to accommodate the audience. They couldn't afford an auditorium but they built a vocational wing.

Incidentally, I have every confidence in the permanency of the Ontario department of education policy to promote and encourage vocational training throughout the province. I feel that the policies of the board of education are just as permanent and as far removed from any political influences as those of our own school board.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT Liquor Permit Charges Brings Fines Of 100

Appearing before Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe last Tuesday to answer two charges of having illegal possession of liquor permits, Joseph C. Myers, Main St., was fined $100 and costs or three months in jail on each count. Two additional charges similar to those to which he pleaded guilty were withdrawn with the consent of Crown Attorney Arleigh Armstrong.

Provincial Police Constable Alfred M. Shaughnessy testified that on March 15 at 3 p.m. he and two other police officers searched the premises of accused which consists of a store and dwelling place. In a kitchen drawer he found, among other permits belonging to the family, a permit for liquor and a beer ration book issued in the name of Thomas E. Burke, Newmarket, a liquor permit issued in the name of Charles Bunn, Newmarket, and a beer ration book issued in the name of Ben Wilson, Newmarket.

Accused said that he and Mr. Burke had gone to Toronto the week previous to purchase their liquor rations. He stated that Mr. Burke had purchased the beer and liquor for Mr. Bunn and Mr. Wilson on an order, as it is permitted those who live outside the city. The accused said that Mr. Burke decided to stay in Toronto and go to a hockey match and accused had brought the purchases back to Newmarket. He had put the permits in the kitchen drawer and forgotten about them until the police arrived, he said.

His worship ruled that in default of payment of the fine the terms meted out on each count would be consecutive. The accused paid the fine.

Two similar charges against Glen Davies, Prospect St., Newmarket, were adjourned for a second week. Pleading guilty to charges of speeding and of entering a stop street, David Williams, Aurora, was fined $10 and costs on the first charge and $1 and costs on the second charge.

According to Acting Chief Constable James Leeder, he had been driving south on Prospect St. at 6:25 p.m. on March 22 when he noticed the accused driving north past the Alexander Muir school at a speed of between 45 and 50 miles an hour. He stated that there had been children playing at the side of the road at the time.

Accused stated that he was travelling between 35 and 40 miles an hour and that there were two children playing on the sidewalk. He admitted that he did not stop at the crossing but stated that he slowed down.

"Did you never consider that the children were likely to run out on the road?" asked his worship. The accused stated that he did consider it likely.

"Doesn't it mean anything to you?" "Yes, but there were only two children." "The officer thought it was serious enough to lay a charge," stated Magistrate Woodliffe. "It seems that as soon as you get into a motor car you act silly."

"I venture to say that anyone in this court room seldom stops at the crossings on Prospect St.," commented Lorne C. Lee, counsel for the defense. "Well, they had better start stopping," replied his worship.

His worship explained that in view that the accused had been truthful and admitted exceeding the speed limit the charge of careless driving which had been laid would be changed to that of speeding. Defense counsel consented.

Finding John Pattison, 33, Keswick, and Thomas Comer, 20, Baldwin, guilty on charges of disturbing the peace by fighting and swearing in a public place, Magistrate Woodliffe fined each offender $10 and costs or ten days in jail.

County Constable William Hill told his worship that he was called to the dance hall on River St., Sutton, at 10:40 p.m. on March 17. Upon his arrival he found a crowd of about 40 grouped about the accused men. The officer stated that Mr. Pattison's face was bleeding.

According to Charles Leach, Sutton, the defendants had grappled inside the building and he had told them to stop fighting and leave the hall.

Mr. Johnson, Sutton, testified that he had seen the two men fighting in a lane next to the dance hall. Mr. Comer stated that Mr. Pattison had passed a "remark" about his sister which he did not like. He admitted having had a drink. Mr. Pattison denied that he had made any remark or knew Mr. Comer's sister.

"If you have to fight when you take a drink or two you had better stop drinking," his worship advised the defendants. "You should be ashamed fighting like small boys."

Eight car owners whose cars were tested by County Constable Ronald Watt and found to have faulty brakes were each fined $10 and costs. They were: William B. Clark and William F. Foster, Queenville; Frank C. Wilkinson, Holt; Garnet Fairbairn, Sharon; Bernard Fairbairn, Ravenshoe; Gerald Mielkin, Keswick; Russell Harrison, Mount Albert; and Melville Graham, Newmarket.

EASTER MONDAY SERVICE

A special Easter service was held in the Salvation Army citadel on Easter Monday and was conducted by Capt. Arthur Robinson.

"I know that my Redeemer lives" was the opening song, followed by prayer. The Scripture lessons taken from the four Gospels were read by Zilpah Laverdier, Capt. Hugh Maclean, Mrs. Capt. A. Robinson and Eldred Woodruff.

Noreen Kirbyson was soloist, singing "The Old Rugged Cross" and "When I survey the wondrous cross." Capt. and Mrs. A. Robinson sang a duet, "Have you heard the angels singing?"

Capt. and Mrs. Robinson both gave readings "What hast thou done for me" and Gethsemane. Hugh Bunton led in the singing of a couple of Easter hymns.

Capt. Robinson brought the message "The Resurrection of Jesus," which was based on John 20:18. Mrs. Robinson closed the meeting with prayer.

Many enjoyed the beautiful spring weather on Easter Sunday. The highway seemed to take on new life as many took advantage of the day to visit the lake and friends. The church services were well attended and the Easter music was greatly appreciated.

A large audience attended the service on Sunday evening at the United church to see the slides on the Passion Play. The service was under the leadership of the Y.P.U. and was conducted by the president, Miss Audrey Eves. The Sunday school room, where the service was held, was suitably decorated with Easter lilies and spring flowers. The minister gave the address on the slides.

of the Nation

Life insurance dollars are never stacked up, all in one place, doing nothing. Instead, they are vitalizing sparks flowing through the channels of trade, and ready to turn the new wheels which initiative, enterprise and ability provide.

When highways are to be built—or bridges, or harbors, or schools, or hospitals... when money is needed to develop our resources, to expand transportation, to launch great industrial projects... when municipalities need financing, or a farmer or a householder wants a mortgage... then the funds which the people of Canada have placed in life insurance are turned into the power-lines of progress.

The laws of our country properly restrict the types of investment in which policyholders' funds may be placed and state requirements which every such investment must fulfil. These laws are a solid safeguard to policyholders, who are assured, through continuous Government supervision, that life insurance funds are safely as well as usefully employed.

QUEEN'S PARK NEWS

(March 29)
By George H. Mitchell
M.P.P. For North York

This week's big news from Queen's Park, of course, is the defeat of the government. The atmosphere has simply crackled with electric tension all week. It was generally understood that the party leaders had agreed to wind up the debate on the Speech from the Throne Thursday night. As a result, crowds thronged to see the last debate. Hundreds of people packed the gallery seats solidly, sat on the steps and stood at the back, and dozens of seats for special visitors were placed on the floor of the chamber itself.

Two issues were before the House. The C.C.F. had proposed an amendment, criticizing the government on five points. It declared that they had not assisted in creating conditions of national unity; that they had not carried out many of their promises; that they had failed to forecast legislation to assure adequate farm prices and security of farm tenure; that they had failed to recognize the need for union security and other collective bargaining rights; and that they had failed to accept their responsibility for planning and organizing post-war employment.

Later the Liberals had moved a sub-amendment. This accepted the C.C.F. criticisms of the government, but added two more points, one attacking the government policy of religious education in the schools and the second criticizing its "ill-considered encouragement" of immigration before making plans to find jobs for Canadian soldiers and war-workers.

Mr. Jolliffe, official Opposition leader, also pointed out that the C.C.F. were in full agreement with the Liberals in their criticism of the government's immigration policy, but they did not believe that religious education should be made a party issue. Religious differences must not be converted into tools of political party warfare. "We cannot believe that the teachings of Christianity or any other religion would countenance such an unseemly quarrel," he said. "So far as the C.C.F. is concerned, we shall not lend ourselves to partisan warfare on any religious issue. It must be dealt with here according to the individual consciences of the members." Mr. Jolliffe then declared that each C.C.F. member would vote on the Liberal sub-amendment as his conscience dictated, and not on party lines. He invited the other parties to free their members also.

Premier Drew closed the debate. He defended the government's stand on religious education and immigration, but did not deal at all with the criticisms in the C.C.F. amendment. He declared that the issue was a straight question of confidence in the government. "Any vote of any member in this House which is not in support of the government motion to adopt the speech from the Throne is obviously a vote of confidence vote and we shall accept it as such," he said.

The first vote was taken on the Liberal sub-amendment. The C.C.F. divided almost evenly. Fifteen C.C.F. members voted for, and 16 C.C.F. members voted against the sub-amendment. The other parties voted solidly, and the sub-amendment was defeated, 52-35.

In spite of the fact that the Drew government was defeated on the Speech from the Throne, there was no earthly reason why the House could not have stayed in session sufficiently long to enable the House to vote funds for the carrying on of public business, and also to pass such legislation as was considered advisable. There was not any need for an election. Mr. Drew could have resigned, and the lieutenant-governor could have requested the leader of the official Opposition to form a government. This course has been repeatedly followed both in Great Britain and elsewhere.

It is my considered opinion that Mr. Drew felt that by bringing on an election now, the result would be favorable to him. I do not think that the people of this province wanted an election, and Mr. Drew must definitely accept full responsibility for it.

NOW AN OIL THAT'S 'ALLOYED'...KEEPS ENGINES CLEAN!

FROM VACUUM Distillation... Futural Process... M.E.K. Solvent... Catalytic Clay (part of this plant is shown above) these are each important steps in the famous Clarkson 5-point-process which makes the purest, most efficient lubricating oil known. Then comes the unique 5th step—the step that "alloys" the oil against oxidation just as iron is alloyed against rust to make stainless steel. This step means that Peerless Motor Oil will stay on the job longer, keep engines cleaner, cut the repair costs.

FOR BETTER SERVICE and better products—purchase Peerless Motor Oil only from the British American Oil Dealer.

This Spring switch to B-A's sensational new 5-point-process PEERLESS MOTOR OIL

This year don't delay! Get your spring change-over early, before that dirty worn-out oil in your car causes serious damage! And when you change, switch to Peerless, B-A's new, Canadian-made, 5-point-process oil that's "alloyed" to prevent its fouling your car's engine... to help keep your repair costs down!

THIS YEAR IS CRUCIAL

It is particularly important, when most of us are driving cars which have already given abnormal service, that we give the engine every possible chance. Only by so doing can we hope to get through the driving season without trouble. That's why it's so important to know how Peerless Motor Oil does a better job.

Here in a nutshell is the reason: From selected lubricating crude oils, B-A eliminates everything except the purest, "oiliest" lubricating fractions. Then, by a special process, Peerless Motor Oil is "alloyed" against decomposition under the heat and pressure it meets in the engine of your car! For longer, safer car life switch now to B-A Peerless Motor Oil!

TIME NOW TO replace old, worn-out winter grade oil with B-A Peerless Motor Oil. Delay may be disastrous! Drive in tomorrow to the sign of the big B-A!

YOUTH gazes into the Crystal

ONLY age looks backward. Youth's smiling gaze is fixed upon the future. What opportunities lie amid the hidden years? What great expectations fortify their courage, gladden their eyes?

Despite the troublous times, the war-disrupted world, the towering problems that must come with peace, Canadian youth stands confident.

And with reason!

Ready to their hand in Canada are the greatest opportunities any nation has ever offered. Canada must place no handicaps upon initiative, no drags upon ambition. Rather it must continue to extend the helping hand—as this Bank has done for 90 years—of friendly counsel, sound credit and unwavering faith in youth itself.

The management and staff of The Bank of Toronto seek to assist the youth of today toward the success of tomorrow. The officers of The Bank of Toronto want to help... and they invite young men and women to consult them in financial matters.

Zephyr United Church Has 'Happy' Experience

By A. F. BAMFORD

For Zephyr United church, Sunday, March 25, will stand out as a day to be remembered for some considerable time because of the important and encouraging events that took place on that occasion.

Since the annual meeting of the congregation we have balloted for two members of the congregation to be added to the session. Those chosen were Byron Armstrong and Edward Hewlett. Sunday evening these two were inducted into the sacred and responsible office of elders of our church, bringing the eldership up to a representative number for our congregation.

Then after the sermon and before the service of Holy Communion 14 young people were received into membership of our church. For four weeks the pastor has held classes of instruction for young communicants. This is an encouraging evidence of the influence of Christian homes and the faithful work done by our Sunday-school teachers.

At the service of Holy Communion which immediately followed the reception service, we had the "happy" experience of having so many served that our individual cups were not sufficient for the number and we had to resort to drinking cups from our W.A. resources. No one minds a little embarrassment through growth and we shall have to take steps to secure another tray of individual glasses. Throughout this inspiring service the pastor was splendidly assisted by the elders of the church.

Managing a farm is in many ways similar to managing any other business. That is why reserve savings in liquid form are so helpful to a farmer.

Victory Bonds provide the handiest form in which savings can be kept with safety. Their security is without question. They represent money owing to you by the Dominion of Canada, just as dollar bills do. And . . . better than dollar bills . . . they earn interest for you every day you hold them; even when put away for safe keeping in a bank vault or in a safe. They pay double bank interest.

You can get cash for Victory Bonds if you need cash in an emergency. Any bank will buy them from you. You can borrow on them, without any formality. Simply take them to any bank and get the loan you need. The interest the bonds earn pays a large part of the bank interest on the loan.

So, realize this fact, Victory Bonds are better than cash because they earn interest.

Buy Victory Bonds to have cash where you need it, when you may need it. Buy Victory Bonds to help maintain your country's war effort.

You will want cash if you plan to build new barns or install new barn equipment . . .

Another Hydro Rate Reduction For All Rural Consumers

A further rural rate reduction from 4c to 3 1/2c per kilowatt hour on the first block of energy used in any one month by Hydro Rural consumers will go into effect on all bills rendered on or after May 1, 1945.

This rural rate reduction will mean a saving of approximately $300,000 a year to Hydro Rural consumers.

The New Uniform Rate Structure Will Be

3 1/2c per kilowatt hour for first block of energy.
(formerly 4c)

1 6-10c per kilowatt hour for second block of energy.

3-4c per kilowatt hour for all additional energy.

No service charge on Farm Service . . . a service charge of 56c gross per month on Hamlet Service.

The more Hydro you use the less it costs on the average per kilowatt hour. Increased use, therefore, brings lower costs. The important revisions in Rural rates, made effective in January, 1944, have resulted in a greater use of energy, enabling the Commission to further reduce the cost of electricity to Hydro Rural consumers in Ontario.

DOWN THE CENTRE

This has been written to the sports career of Jack Woolhead, formerly of Markham Juniors. Jack was a lance-corporal with the Engineers and was killed in Holland with the Canadian troops at the age of 24. A native of Agincourt, he joined the Aces at the same time as the Bangay brothers, Coburn and Skippy Northcote, who all came from the same district. The Harp-er, Vic Maharg, Clarke, Bowdoy, Patterson were of the same vintage. His last year with Markham was the year they lost out to Grimsby in the finals. The next season, when they won the title, he was too old. While not a brilliant player, Woolhead was a good, sturdy defenseman and he had been on active service for four years.

Scotty Mair, "the handsome sailor", wound up the 1945 hockey season with a burst of glory as he paced the H.M.C.S. Cornwallis team from Deep Rock, N.S., to the Maritime services championship. It was an all-navy affair with Halifax stars being the final round opposition. Scotty bagged five goals and two assists in the three-game series (three straight wins) and tied with a team mate, Gaye Stewart, former star of Toronto Maple Leafs for the leading scoring honors.

Here is the winning line-up on which Hughie played and it would make any team in Canada stop: goal, Red Gilbert (Toronto); defence, Chuck Millman (St. Kitts), Doug Fritz (Hamilton), Bob Goldham (Toronto Leafs), Bill Millar (Moncton); forwards, Joe Klukay (Toronto Leafs), Hugh Barlow (Hamilton), Bill Stefaniw (Cleveland), George Dee (Omaha), Gaye Stewart and Jackie Hamilton (Toronto Leafs), and Mair.

Normie Mann played a fine game for the losers but his team lacked the same all-round class. Strangely enough, Mann was involved in two of the storm scenes during the play-offs. Usually he plays a clean, impersonal game.

Jimmy Lowe, another former Aurora junior, hit the spot pages in recent weeks. Lowe, who served with the R.C.A.F. on the west coast, was selected on the all-Pacific command services team to play a big charity game in Vancouver against the army team from Currie barracks, Calgary, winners of the Alberta services crown. Lowe hit the scoring sheet and made a good job of checking Bentley of Chicago Black Hawks who spearheaded the Alberta soldiers all season. The game raised over five grand for overseas cigarettes but the necessary permission to carry the series beyond one game could not be secured from Ottawa.

Warm weather left bush league hockey championships, except for Aurora and Richmond Hill, up in the air. At Agincourt the finalists were Agincourt and C.G.E. with no winner. At Unionville, Milliken and Unionville likewise left stranded; at Bradford, Bradford and Schomberg, Lumberjacks and in the South Simcoe league, Everett and Alliston Married Men. A district rink with artificial ice would have had all the teams pouring in for the games.

George Coverley, better known to the wrestling fans as K. O. Coverley or Koverley, met with a tragic accident at Hannibal, Missouri, a few days ago and is not likely to wrestle again, even if he survives. Coverley was driving in foggy weather and struck a cement bridge. "K.O." while a rough and ready customer, was a favorite with Toronto and North York grappling fans and could always be depended upon to stage a good show.

Babe Ruth, one of the all-time greats of baseball, made his debut as a wrestling referee in the States this week. It could be that Ruth has lost most of his money, for we hardly think a venture of this type is likely to raise him in the estimation of most sports fans, most of all those thousands of kids filled with hero-worship.

We received a letter asking us to mention the fact that two former North York athletes have made a big hit behind the footlights. The two were Al White, all-around Richmond Hill athlete and in recent years one of the leading lawn bowlers of the district, and Larry Mykita, who used to do a dandy job as catcher for Richmond Hill baseballers. These two fellows held down the end-man posts in the recent Lions minstrel show at the Hill and did a four-star job with their zany antics.

Russ Burrows, elongated Markham product who hurled good softball for Toronto navy last summer and a few years back was the best juvenile horseshoe tosser in the province, was posted from H.M.C.S. York last week to the east coast and on the eve of the beaches softball league opening too.

Bunny Glover, former member of the Aurora R.C.O.C. hockey and softball squads, won himself the right wing berth on the all-navy all-star team in the Camp Borden hockey league this winter by a narrow margin. Sgt. Glover was chosen by the votes of a board of seven. Here are the Camp Borden all-stars. First team: goal, Baz Bastein; defence, Jack Church and Alex Sandilack; centre, Les Douglas; 1. wing, Jimmy Conacher; 2. wing, Gerry Brown (2 Leafs, 1 Ranger, 1 Red Wings). Second team: goal, West-brooke; defence, Jimmy Fowler, Russ Bowman and Frank Bowman; centres, Mickey Maguire and Bobby McLaughlin; 1. wing, Glover; 2. wing, Al Kuntz. Those two teams are power-packed squads capable of holding their own anywhere. The names are mostly known wherever hockey is played.

The Chin brothers from Lucknow, who have had more publicity than any minor players in years, once again bowed out of the Ontario juvenile B series despite the fact they had professional training. Last year it was Port Colborne that did the trick, this season it was Welland. The Lucknow team was beaten by nine goals in one game. As will be recalled the Chin family once resided in Newmarket and the oldest son was born there. There are now 12 in the family. Most Chinese kids pick up chopsticks first. With the Canadian-Chinese family it is a matter of picking up a hockey stick first.

Had a talk with Al Wyndolaki, former baseball and athletic star at No. 23 B.T.C., recently. Al stopped a piece of shrapnel as big as your fist north of Borden while with the infantry and is slowly recuperating at Camp Borden. A trip to Newmarket and the thrill of seeing all his old buddies (and sleeping in Syd Bowman's bed) oozed him up no end. Says he played some baseball and softball in Italy and that there were some dandy teams overseas, if not highly organized. He met among others Nick Bangay. The younger of the hockey brothers has two hooks (perhaps a third) now and looked in the pink when Al saw him last. Al figures his playing days are pretty well over but you can never tell. "Lucky to be alive" is the way he terms his experiences and a close up of the surgery needed to remove the shrapnel speaks sharply for itself.

Unfortunately we did not have much of a chance this season to follow the service league hockey featuring Newmarket camp Toronto navy and Toronto army, although we did have an opportunity of seeing all three teams in action once at least. We shed a bit, therefore, from shaking down stardust on the shoulders of the players in the group personally and we asked two whom we consider should be able to do a good job to let us have their selections.

From Newmarket camp we obtained choices from Cpl. Bernie Gantner, who has done a grade AA job covering the sporting events. No. 23 for the past year. He has developed into a first rate sports scribe and so far as hockey is concerned he has seen nearly every game and looked at it with critical eyes, giving praise where it was due and not pulling his punches. From Toronto army Cpl. Bill Stirling, the coach and general factotum of the eliminated army team, went to bat. Bill is a former hockey player, coached his team well considering what he had to work with most of the season and if any proof of his ability is needed look at the success he has had coaching Uxwotons in the West Toronto mercantile league. Bill's selections were made earlier than Gantner's which may account for some differences in placing the various players. On the whole there is not a great deal of difference between them as must be the case when the critics are competent as witnessed by the National Hockey League selectors. Stirling's choice reads as follows. First team: goal, Ross "Lefty" Wilson, navy; defence, Chuck Shannon, Toronto and Newmarket, and Jerry Oliniski, navy; centre, Billy Taylor; 1. wing, Bep Guidolin; 2. wing, Floyd Curry, navy. Second team: goal, Capt. "Bing" Caswell, Newmarket; defence, Tommy Jamieson, Newmarket, and Clare Dillon, navy; centre, Joffre Desilets, Toronto army; 1. wing, Buck Davies, Toronto army; 2. wing, Bill "Pee-Vee" Summerhill, Toronto army. Special mention goes to Eugene "Joint" McComb and Jack Life of Newmarket; Bobby Love of navy; Ron Wilson of Toronto army. Gantner's good ones are, first team: goal, Wilson, navy; defence, "Chuck" Shannon, Toronto army, and Clare Dillon, navy; centre, Billy Taylor; 1. wing, Bep Guidolin; 2. wing, Floyd Curry, navy. Second team: goal, Capt. "Bing" Caswell, Newmarket; defence, Tommy Jamieson and Bep Guidolin; centre, Bobby Love; 1. wing, Bill Summerhill, Toronto army; 2. wing, Johnny Callanan.

As you can see, both pickers are agreed on the first and second choices for goal. Lefty Wilson, Bill says, "is mainly responsible for the showing of the navy team", and Bernie says, "nothing further need be said about this choice". Bing Caswell, deservedly enough, gets the second berth on a comeback effort of merit. Chuck Shannon, bespectacled ex-Pittsburgh Hornet, is judged the pick of the blueliners. Both agree he is good both ways and Gantner calls him "a second goalie". Here agreement ends except for the case of Tommy Jamieson, the fleet softball outfielder who turned up a regular surprise package in the winter. Both accord him a second team spot. Clare Dillon, who played in the local junior O.H.A. group last winter and was with Young Rangers for a while this year, is named for both second and first teams. Both are agreed on his ability. Gantner fails to place Jerry Oliniski at all because he is "too temperamental, spending most of his time in the penalty box". Truth to tell, if you check the statistics, the honor for drawing the most penalties will fall between Bep Guidolin and the Detroit chattel. Bep Guidolin, ex-Boston Bruins, naturally enough must get a place on either team. He is individually one of the best but has turned in some fairly indifferent games. Toronto critics have panned him for rough play and then done an about turn as he turned in a terrific game on the defence.

Billy Taylor gets the first string centre berth. Stirling, tabs him "all the same clever player as he was with the Leafs". Gantner says "to leave Billy Taylor off any all-star team is to commit sacrilege". Taylor is just about the leading scorer and has the oomph so badly needed to get gates. From there in the centre players are pretty even with the exception of Joint McComb. Stirling gives him only honorable mention. Gantner solves the problem by moving him to left wing. We doubt seriously if there is a better player in the league. Jeff Desilets, who as long ago as 1933 was playing terrific hockey against Newmarket teams, is Stirling's second centre, and Bobby Love, ex-Oshawa, is Bernie's choice. Desilets potted six goals in one night and Stirling agrees that Love is a pretty good. Floyd Curry of navy, last year with Oshawa Generals, is a unanimous choice for right wing. Few players have taken as many soundings like Curry and retained their temper as well.

Both agree with Bill Summerhill for the understudy job so the right boards appear to be pretty well covered. Summerhill, a great haller too, was with New Haven Eagles last. Left wing presents difficulties. Guidolin, McComb, Johnny "Irish" Thrush, Callanan and Buck Davies, ex-Montreal Royals and Aurora R.C.O.C. Gant-

THE DIPLOMAT

"In your opinion, who are the three greatest sailors in British history?" an admiral, who was conducting an examination for the British navy, asked one of the candidates.

The reply came pat. "I'm sorry, sir, I didn't catch your name when I entered the room; but the other two are Nelson and Drake."

SHUR-GAIN 'Big 50' LAYING CONCENTRATE

MAKES MORE EGGS

Britain needs 30 million dozen shell eggs in 1945—as well as 75 million dozen powdered eggs! That's a lot of eggs—and that means maximum production is required! Big 50 Laying Concentrate with your own grains will help your hens produce those extra eggs—economically and without waste. Satisfactory high egg prices now mean greater profits if you do this: See that your hens get a properly balanced ration of grains and Big 50 Laying Concentrate—a ration that provides all the proteins, minerals, vitamins and other essential food elements that go to make eggs. Successful poultrymen know that the SHUR-GAIN Way makes more eggs.

PROTECTS YOUR FLOCK

The health of your flock is important if you are to get maximum production. That's why a balanced ration made with SHUR-GAIN Big 50 Laying Concentrate is so valuable. It keeps your hens in good condition—healthy and rugged right through the winter.

COSTS YOU LESS

A healthy flock is a profitable flock and the way to eliminate waste and save feeding costs is to feed right—the SHUR-GAIN Way. If you feed SHUR-GAIN Big 50 Laying Concentrate with home grains you will find as thousands of other poultrymen have found—that it costs less to produce a dozen eggs the SHUR-GAIN Way than by any other method of feeding.

 ner says Callanan has played just about everywhere and his play has been affected accordingly. It was the same story last winter too.
 Johnny has everything to make him a standout but hasn't had the same breaks. Well, there's the choice and we guess after Good Friday (Syl Bowman says he agrees with that title), the selectors didn't do such a bad job. Flash Abram took the nets for Newmarket and did a good job.

Incidentally, if you listened to the broadcast of the Sunnyside fashion parade over CKEY last Sunday you heard Cpl. Abram and his wife interviewed and their togs described. According to Joe Chrysdale Flash, who was in mufti, looked like Mr. 1945 himself. The game was a lalla pazzo but if you remember about six weeks ago we predicted navy would go stale.

Add to that the fact that Bill Armstrong, Aurora-Pentang-Marlbros star, was moved eastward and Bobby Schnurr was injured and you can see Teddy Morris' boys were not at peak. If they had been it wouldn't have made any difference the way the No. 23 boys were flying. Sandy Milne, whose young brother played in the local O.E.A. group with Port Credit this year, was in action but off skates for so long he wasn't so much help.

Richmond Hill juniors are to be presented with fifty blue and white trim leather windbreakers in the near future for their fine season's effort. The Hill have pee-wee and minor-bantam teams playing in the T.H.L. series.

Johnny Atkinson, who pitched for the Hill bantams last winter, has blossomed forth as a real star with the bantams and is ready for promotion to higher company.

We extend sympathy to Grant Nighswander, impressario of the Richmond Hill teams, on the death of his father, Frank Nighswander, at Markham last week.

Pep Kelley, once the pride of Newmarket, ended up the 1945 hockey season as a member of another championship team, the Sudbury Open Pit seniors, which took the all-Ontario title for the second year in a row. Kelly didn't join the team until the third game, some differences about personalities or salary in this amateur classic keeping him out for the first two.
 He made his presence felt when he hit the line-up, not so much by goals as by his checking.

Never in the history of hockey have such invisible lines between the pros and the so-called amateurs existed, as witness Emberg and Tremblay, not to mention Stahan of the deceased Les Canadiens. The whole situation, wartime or no wartime, smells to high heaven and the sooner we either enforce the differences or better still group them all as simply hockey players from class AA to class F, the better.

Don't believe current rumors prevailing that Aurora will be back in grade A softball this summer.
 Leonard Simmons, reputed to be behind the scheme, says he isn't interested except for kids' baseball.
 If maestro Simmons doesn't take hold of things you can depend upon it there won't be a team. Just the same with Charlie Case, Nip

Spooher (to come), Jim Emmons,
 Morley Cook, Duke Dennis, Lefty Glover, the Nigh brothers and others from the sticks available, a fair team to do battle for district honors might be formed. Rumor also has it that Richmond Hill will once again be represented in the Wanless Park senior B league but at last reports, Charlie Ryan and his associates had filed no entry.

This picture of an anxious group of London citizens is taken from a moving picture film, 'Y.L.' which will be shown in many rural areas of Canada as part of the eighth victory loan program. The film shows this group of men digging into the wreckage of homes destroyed just a short while previously by a robot bomb. As they work they hear and see another of these dreadful messengers of death approaching. Note the intense anxiety in the faces of these workers as they speculate whether or not the robot will stop and fall as it reaches them or will pass on to another target. The film is one of the most vivid pictorializations of robot attacks in England which has been produced.

Defence, Reply In Action Against Newspaper Firm

Published below are two pleas heard in the recent action in the Supreme Court of Ontario over the sale of 25 shares in The Era and Express to Col. W. P. Mulock, postmaster-general, shareholder in the company. The sale was contested by Andrew Olding Hebb, also a shareholder in the company, who brought action against Col. Mulock and the company.
The claims and defence in the action against Col. Mulock have already been published. The pleas published below refer to the action against the company.
The first plea is entered on behalf of the company, the second plea is the answer of Mr. Hebb who brought the action. The paragraphs one, two and three, mentioned in the first paragraph of the statement of defence, refer to the definition of parties involved.
The pleas follow:
STATEMENT OF THE DEFENDANT NEWMARKET ERA AND EXPRESS LIMITED
1. This defendant admits the allegations contained in paragraphs 1, 2 and 3 of the statement of claim, but denies all the other allegations contained therein and puts the plaintiff to the strict proof thereof.
2. On or about the 5th day of June, 1944, the defendant, William P. Mulock, applied to the defendant company for the purchase of 25 shares of the capital stock of the defendant company and the defendant, William P. Mulock, enclosed his certified cheque for $2,500 in payment of the same.
3. Subsequently, on or about the 9th day of June, 1944, the application of the defendant, William P. Mulock, for the purchase of 25 shares of the capital stock of the defendant company was considered at a meeting of the board of directors of the defendant company which had been duly called and the board of directors passed a resolution accepting the application of the defendant, William P. Mulock, and allotting 25 shares of the capital stock of the defendant company to the defendant, William P. Mulock.
4. This defendant asserts that the acceptance of the defendant, William P. Mulock's, application for 25 shares of the stock of the defendant company was in the best interests of the defendant company because the defendant company was badly in need of capital and because the independent policy and character of the newspaper operated by the defendant company should be maintained.
5. This defendant expressly denies that the resolution of the directors of the defendant company purporting to allot and issue to the defendant, William P. Mulock, 25 treasury shares of the defendant company is in violation of the plaintiff's rights as a shareholder of the defendant company or that the majority of the directors were not
